CELEBRATING TWO YEARS

XLP is excited to celebrate two years of growth and success! On April 1, 2020, XLP officially opened its "doors" with two attorneys, two staff, and 38 clients, working from a dining room table, as the COVID pandemic hit. On April 1, 2022, just 2 years later, XLP has 14 attorneys and 6 staff, with three office locations in two states, serving over 350 client matters! We are about to move into a second, expansion office in our Fairfax HQ location and we can't wait for what's ahead in Year Three!

GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS

Jennifer Morris and the XLP government contracts compliance team delivered a comprehensive report to the General Counsel of a multi-billion dollar client this month.

The report analyzed all corporate policies and procedures, all FAR and DFARS requirements applicable to the company, its internal procurement procedures, staffing and its process for tracking hundreds of deliverables under its government contracts. XLP also captured potential compliance gaps in a tool developed to provide the company a road map to close the gaps and ensure future compliance success.

Compliance is KEY in government contracting and XLP can help!

XLP SUCCESS

XLP secures high, five figure settlement for client injured in auto accident.

Jill F. Helwig and the XLP Litigation team secured a high, five figure settlement for a client who was injured in an automobile accident through no fault of her own. When the defendant's insurance carrier refused to offer a reasonable settlement, Jill and the XLP team filed suit, which resulted in the favorable mediated settlement.

XLP IN THE COMMUNITY

Jonathan Francis has been appointed to the Board of Zoning Appeals for Prince William County. The Board of Zoning Appeals reviews and decides appeals of zoning determinations and requests for variances to zoning provisions. Zoning restricts the use of land, and the Board of Zoning Appeals evaluates whether those restrictions could or should be lifted for a particular project or location.
